GERMINATION & SEEDLING CARE

MARY, MARY, QUITE CONTRARY; HOW DOES YOUR GARDEN GROW?

LET'S GET HIGH-ER RATES OF SUCCESSFUL GERMINATION

While there are many methods of germinating seeds, germination within a wet paper towel remains among the most popular and successful techniques. With freshly washed hands, soak a paper towel in clean, sterile water. Set your desired number of seeds in the paper towel; fold and place in a Ziploc bag. Cannabis seeds germinate best in warmer temperatures, between 75-80 degrees Fahrenheit. Wait anywhere from 12 hours to 7 days until tap roots come through. Some seeds will take longer depending on their genetics/age. Place germinated seeds in small square pots with starter soil (FoxFarm Happy Frog) and water thoroughly. The light cycle should begin at 18 hours on and 6 hours off, with lights DIMMED VERY LOW.

MIKE'S PRO-TIP

If you have older seeds or just want to increase your germination odds, soak seeds in a solution of kelp and water for about 24 hours, prior to placing in a paper towel. The Gibberellic acid in kelp is what triggers the release of enzymes in seeds that begin the germination process – hence, resulting in a faster germination rate and a lower risk of germination failure.

GROWING LIKE A WEED: SEEDLING PHASE

Ideally, young seedlings should be kept in temperatures between 75 and 80 degrees Fahrenheit. Water your plants when the soil is lighter in color and dry, especially in the seedling stage. It is important to allow the soil to dry thoroughly between watering in order to prevent fungal infections and damping off. Place your lights above grow media, following the manufacturer's recommendations. At this stage, the ideal PPFD is between 200-400 µmol. Continue the seedling regimen for 2-4 weeks, using only water. You can also include microbes, such as Fish Sh!t, when watering.
